Tourist Trap

The tree is a Morton Bay fig tree, which I shot in Beverly Hills. I then went on to place it in San Francisco. You can see the famous Ghirardelli sign and the trolleys that are so characteristic of the city. The tree could be mistaken for a giant octopus. The roots of the tree look like tentacles and the cars could be gobbled up. There is no light at the end of the tunnel, so you don't know if they will ever get out.
