“Spiritual Re-Boot”

There’s always been a time in our lives where we thought, “If I could do things all over again, I would do them differently”. Of course, we made our choices and learned from them, which led us to a different and better path. But, what if we could erase the past and be able to start over? “Spiritual Re-boot” is about releasing our inner conflicts and being given a 2nd chance to do things differently. The way you wish you could have done them.

The woman in the image is struggling to release her inner conflict. She wants out. At the bottom of the piece, her 3rd eye has the sight of the way her new life should be and will lead her through the tunnel, upon which she will be given a 2nd chance to re-boot her system and start her life over.
